

Window on the week

Week beginning
Monday 16th January

In literacy this week we will be learning...

About the composition of a story as we write an Iron Man story based in a modern setting. We will identify how the modern world differs to the 1960's

In numeracy this week we will be learning...

About place value up to 6 and 7 figure numbers and then looking at negative numbers and how they fit within a number line.

In science this week we will be learning... About space. We will be looking at the difference between heliocentricity and geocentricity and make models of the solar system to show them both and make scientific conclusions.

Please remember PE is on Mondays and Wednesdays and suitable clothing, including footwear is required. Keep working on learning the words of your poems.
